

Renewable Energy Islands

The old electric power grid towers dispersed across Lagos lose their sense when implementing a renewable energy production strategy. However we can take advantage of their potential with rehabilitation programmes related to energy and common management. Diverse energy production workshops, social/energetic pedagogies, solar kitchens, battery racks or communitary infrastructures, all related to a way of understanding Energy as a common resource.