

GALERIA MUNICIPAL DO PORTO
[JARDINS DO PALÁCIO DE CRISTAL]

3 JUNHO –
21 AGOSTO 2016

PIGS

curadoria/curator: BLANCA DE LA TORRE

ARTSPIRATORS GROUP
CARLOS AIRES
VASCO ARAÚJO
BILL BALASKAS
KARMELO BERMEJO
ROSSELLA BISCOTTI
STEFANO CAGOL

NUNO CERA
PAOLO CIRIO
DANILO CORREALE
PRISCILA FERNANDES
CARLA FILIPE
NURIA GÜELL
JUAN CARLOS MEANA

PSJM & JOSÉ MARIA DURÁN
AVELINO SALA
FEDERICO SOLMI
STEFANOS TSIVOPOULOS
ZAFOS XAGORARIS &
JENNY MARKETOU

Eight years ago, Pigs really did fly. Their economies soared after joining the eurozone. Interest rates fell to historical lows – and were often negative in real terms. A credit boom followed, just as night follows day. Wages rose, debt levels ballooned, as did house prices and consumption. Now the Pigs are falling back to earth.

“Pigs in Muck”, Financial Times,
1 September 2008

PIGS speaks ironically and subversively of the socio-political implications of the crisis and its cultural roots, of an account within Europe that is full of paradoxes, of a fractured pan-European idea, and what the false construction of this idea means for the four countries in question.

How are our historical memory, its symbolic values and the way in which our past continues to exist and still shapes our present constructed? It is important to be aware of the connections that underlie the social imaginary, below every construction of a present in an indeterminate state.

Financial plots, in which the leading roles are often played by politics and the banks; forms of governance, ideologies and stereotypes; rhetorics on power, memory and the various pasts, be they historical or mythical; the construction of other narratives; and more.

Eight years ago, Pigs really did fly. Their economies soared after joining the eurozone. Interest rates fell to historical lows – and were often negative in real terms. A credit boom followed, just as night follows day. Wages rose, debt levels ballooned, as did house prices and consumption. Now the Pigs are falling back to earth.

“Pigs in Muck”, Financial Times,
1 September 2008

PIGS speaks ironically and subversively of the socio-political implications of the crisis and its cultural roots, of an account within Europe that is full of paradoxes, of a fractured pan-European idea, and what the false construction of this idea means for the four countries in question.

How are our historical memory, its symbolic values and the way in which our past continues to exist and still shapes our present constructed? It is important to be aware of the connections that underlie the social imaginary, below every construction of a present in an indeterminate state.

Financial plots, in which the leading roles are often played by politics and the banks; forms of governance, ideologies and stereotypes; rhetorics on power, memory and the various pasts, be they historical or mythical; the construction of other narratives; and more.

Inauguração (Opening): 3 de junho, 19h00

Terça a Sábado (Tuesday – Saturday): 10h00–18h00 • Domingo e Segunda (Sunday and Monday) – 14h00–18h00
Entrada gratuita (Free entry) • Visitas guiadas – Sábados, 16h00 (Guided Tours – Saturday, 4pm)

mecenas da galeria

apoios

co-organização

GALERIA MUNICIPAL DO PORTO

fundação

AC/E
ACCION CULTURAL ESPAÑOLA

Artium
Vitoria-Gasteiz
www.artium.org

